◆ Sokyō ◆

Sokyō channels the buzz of Tokyo by having its own resident DJ play for diners. Head Chef Chase Kojima has received praise for his craftsmanship and ability to create contemporary flavours in his dishes. All the classic Japanese favourites appear on the menu, or if you feel like indulging try the 600 gram +9 Wagyu Scotch Fillet.

Delve into satisfying street food bites at Banh Mi Co canteen tucked into a block of double storey buildings on the corner of Harris and John Street in Pyrmont. Reminiscent of a petit French bakery, Banh Mi Co is a fusion of French and Vietnamese both in looks and in flavours, with a green and white striped awning shading the glass fronted entrance where a burst of vibrant colours awaits inside. As the name suggests, tasty Banh Mi rolls are featured on the menu, incorporating fresh produce with meats like chicken and pork as well as a family secret recipe pâté to tantalise the tastebuds. Those looking to deviate may enjoy Vietnamese rice paper rolls, lemongrass and chilli fried tofu sticks served with rice.

Pyrmont Ultimo Dining Guide

◆ Tappo Osteria ◆

Think rustic-chic. The thin crust wood fired oven pizzas put Tappo Osteria on the map, but the family run restaurant also prides itself on authentic pastas, antipasti and an extensive wine list. They source their produce daily, to get the freshest ingredients, and the ever changing black-board reflects this.

◆ Wine Society ◆

Regarded as Australia's original not-for-profit wine club since its conception in 1946, the Wine Society is still one of the best. Since its inception it has scoured the country to source the best in wine from independent producers. Members regularly meet for masterclasses and dinners to share experiences and opinions on the vast array of wines available in Australia.

◆ Zebra Lounge ◆

The stunning harbour location compliments the impressive selection of wine, beer and food perfectly. With delicious meals including oysters, coconut king prawns and soda battered fish and chips, it's no wonder Zebra Lounge is a hot spot for locals. Zebra lounge also has a modern, chic decor and spacious outdoor setting.
